TALK OF FIGHTERS.

Mitchell and McCaffrey to Have a Ten-Round Go.

It'll Be with Hard Gloves in at present, Jersey City.

Dempsey Says He Will Fight Mitchell Only to a Finish.

Charley Mitchell and Dominick McCaffrey were matched in Atlantic City, yesterda, , for a ten-round hard glove contest, to take place in Jersey City, Jan. 20, for $1,500 a side.

This match has been brought about by Billy O'Brien, Doc Robbins, of Philadelphia, and Jimmy Kennedy, of the Sporting Times. Messrs. O'Brien and Kennedy went to Philadelphia Saturday, and after meeting a numadelphia Saturday, and after meeting a number of sporting men and talking the matter over, they went to Atlantic City, accompanied by Robbins, and, after seeing Mitchell, completed their arrangements.

Although this will be an exhibition contest, it will give Mitchell and McCaffrey an opportunity to settle the differences which followed their draw fight in Madison Square Garden several years ago.

McCaffrey is expected to arrive in Atlantic City from the West to day. He will remain there and go into hard and earnest training, while Mitchell will train on Long Island.

The Englishman is expected in this city to-morrow. He will meet Jake Kilrain at the Police Garette office, and between them they will endeavor to answer John L. Sullivan's challenge to Kilrain.

will endeavor to answer John L. Sullivan's challenge to Kilrain.

Mr. Fox still holds to his statement that he will not be a party to the arrangement of a fight between the two Boston sluggers in this country, but says he is sure Kilrain intends to accept the challenge and fight it out.

Mr. O'Brien got from Jimmy Albert, in Atlantic City, a promise to enter in an international six-day race in London in April.

DEMPSEY TALKS OF MITCHELL.

Nothing but a Fight to the Finish Will Do Now.

Jack Dempsey was in his saloon, 208 Front street, straightening out several accounts which needed his attention, when an Even-ING WORLD reporter called this morning.

Dempsey was as fresh as could be after his sojourn in the Adirondacks, and in the best of condition.
"What matches have you on hand?" inquired the reporter.

"Not any, at present," said Jack. "1 am not going to arrange any matches until I find out whether or not I can make a fight with Charley Mitchell.

Charley Mitchell.

"I would like to fight Mitchell to a finish.

That is the only way I would fight him now, and parties are trying to arrange a fight between us. I will not meet Mitchell in an exhibition glove contest, in Chicago or anywhere else. I have made up my mind to fight him to a finish or not at all. If Mitchell will not meet me, then I will see what I can do elsewhere."

"How about the Denver Cribb Club's guarantee of $1,500, win or lose, if you will box Ed Smith, of Denver, fifteen rounds under the Cribb Club's auspices?"

"Oh, I will pay no attention to that. I receive such offers until I am utterly tired of them. I am sick of even talking about them."

Dempsey begins a twenty weeks' engagement with Rice's Vaudeville Company tonight at Hyde & Behman's in Brooklyn.

Next week he shows himself in Philadelphia and will go as far West as Chicago. He will spar on the stage with Denny Cortigan.

the Attack on the Jail.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 10.-The city is practically under military rule, and no night or early in the morning.

The terrible results of the attack on the jail Saturday night have dismayed the mob, but it is fear that restrains them from making another attempt to lynch R. R. Hawes.

The arrest of Sheriff Smith on a charge of murder has done much toward bringing about a state of order and quiet.

Col. Jones. in command of the militia, last night issued a proclamation calling upon all citizens to refrain from assembling in the neighborhood of the jail, and requesting them not to assemble in crowds anywhere in the city. He invokes the aid of all good citizens to assist the authorities in allaying peace and maintain the law and order of the city.

A similar proclamation has been issued by Mayor Thompson, who calls upon all lawabiding citizens to put aside their private grievances and guard with loyalty the public peace and maintain the law and order of the city.

Hawes, whom the mob attempted to lynch, is reported as having been perfectly cool during the attack upon the jail. He seemed to feel that the mob would succeed in getting in the jail, and he dressed himself and expressed his readiness to accompany the crowd as soon as they reached him. He still stoutly asserts his innocence of the charge of having murdered his wife and child.

The crime for which Hawe's life is in jeopardy is here summarized: Last Tuesday the body of a little girl was found in Eastlake, near this city. The fact was established that she had been murdered, and Wednesday the body was identified as that of Mary Hawes, the daughter of R. R. Hawes, who is a railroad engineer.

Circumstances pointed to the girl's father as her murderer. He was married in Columbus, Miss., Wednesday evening, though supposed to have a wife here. On his arrival here with his bride that night he was charged with myder and arrested. with murder and arrested.

Then it was learned that he had never been divorced from his first wife, and that she had been missing since last Saturday as well as a younger child.

been missing since last Saturday as well as a younger child.

Search for the woman's body commenced at once, and soon additional circumstantial evidence against Hawes was secured, and Saturday evening the body of his wife was found at the bottom of the lake weighted down with iron.

This caused intense excilement throughout the city, and that night fifty or more officers were placed around the jall, armed with Winchester rifles, anticipating a possible attempt to lynch Hawes.

Of the nine men killed in the attack Saturday night no one will be more missed than Maurice B. Throckmorton, the young Postmaster. When shot he was endeavoring to persuade the mob to withdraw. In fact, this was true of several men who lost their lives.

The seriously wounded are in the hospital and three or four will probably die.

He will never command an hundred men, but he dreams he is the Admiral. But He will never command an hundred men, but he dreams he is the Admiral. But though by his own confession he is brave above all other men, this orderly was not considered a sufficient guard for an admiral to have about him in these war times. Hence the Corporal's guard; and these, fully slive to the dangers of their position and the honors which perchance might come to them from rescuing the Admiral from death or annoyance, passed the time in telling tales of battles never fought and in frescoing the tinted walls with the juice of the to-bacco plant.

The Admiral himself was very busy. Not The Admiral himself was very busy. Not only did he listen to confidential reports from many of the captains stationed in the yard, but was momentarily expecting orders from Secretary Whitney which would compel him to direct Admiral Luce to direct Capt. Sumner to get the United States corvette Galena under way and proceed to Hayti, there to compel the island Government to straightway free from bondage a ship owned by citizens of the United States, or pay 60,000 golden samoleons for the destruction of the same.

All this troubled the genial Admiral, and not even the presence of the orderly remforced by the corporal's guard could free him from anxiety.

The Yantic will by Wednesday be in a seaworthy and argumentative condition. All she lacks is powder and a few finishing touches.

This morning swarms of blue-jackets lightly swung themselves high up into the rigging of the Galena, and aided by some of their fellows below, put new ropes in the place of old, and did what spheing, knotting and clewing was deemed necessary.

Early this morning the Galena was put under sailing orders. That is, she is now doing sea duty, and none of her force can leave her deck unless permitted or ordered so to do.

The new man-of-war Chicago now lies alongside the Cob Dock, with her bow almost touching that or the Galena.

The seamen aboard the latter are all anxious for the start to be made, and that they knew that but a few hours remained for them here was evident from the presence of their wives, sisters or sweethearts, who, attired in their Sunday clothes, stood on the dock and proudly tendered their farewell gifts and kisses.

It is now thought most probable that the Richmond will not go to Hayti unless the Galena should find the islanders too much for her.

The Yantic will probably start, but should the Galena weigh anchor to-day and proceed to Hayti without delay, the little misunder-standing will have been settled before the Yantic can reach the scene of action.

A "COSMOPOLITAN" CHANGE.

The Magazine Passes Into New Hands and New Quarters.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine has entered on a new phase of its career. Last Thursday Joseph N. Hallock, the owner of the magazine and the proprietor of the Christian at Work, sold it to a Denver millionaire, John Brisben 'Walker, who takes the periodical free of all indebtedness.

With its new owner the magazine moves into sumptuously fitted up quarters at 363 Fifth avenue, the residence of the late Mr. James Brooks.

Mr. Walker is a literary and newspaper man who made a large fortune in Denver

Mr. Walker bought the Cosmopolitas because he wanted some literary occupation to give his energy play, being too active to settle down into opulent idleness. Buch a proprietorship promises more for the success of the magazine than any change it has undergone.

Ulysses S. Grant, jr., was said to have lost by the Cosmopolitan $100,000. This is only $99,550 out of the way.

Young Grant was taken into the Metropolitan Magazine Company as Vice-President, with the understanding that he should put in $5,000, bring in some of his relatives, and supply the magazine with some of his father's menuscripts.

He fulfilled these conditions no further than putting in $450, which he lost, and which is all that he lost.

The former editor of the magazine, E. D. Wa'ker, who is no relative of the new proprietor, continues in his position of editor.

Judge Martine said he had never sentenced a prisoner under the law making attempts at suicide punishable, and he never should so long as there was any hope that no second attempt would be made. So Holtman was permitted Ald Digustion, Piensant to Take.

" Handsome Harry" Carlton was arraigned at the bar of justice to-day for trial for the Roesler velled for help and the three roughs ran away in different directions. Carlton ran into the arms of Policeman Brennan, at Third avenue and Thirty-third street, and when the latter esaayed to arrest him, drew a revolver and fired four shots into the face of the officer. Brennan foll mortally wounded, and the last sacrament of extreme unction for the repose of his soul was said over him by Rev. Father Kenny, who was hastily summoned from St. Gabriel's Church.

CONCERNING CONNECTICUT RAMS.

The Next Legislature May Repeal a Law Which the Farmers Do Not Like. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 10.—There is to be a bill introduced in the next General Assembly of the Connecticut Legislature, urging the repeal of one of the statute laws of Connecticut. The old blue law imposes a fine of $10 upon any one who permits a ram to go at large between the 1st day of August and the 1st day of December. A ram is apt to butt during these months and has always been looked upon with fear and as day or one. and as dangerous.

Since protection to the wool growers has been assured the wool industry has received a new impetus throughout the grassy slopes of Western Connecticut.

Western Connecticut.

The law in reference to rams is about to be brought to a test between two farmers living on Turkey Hill, near Derby. It involves some local technicalities.

One of the farmers is to bring suit against his neighbor for damage done by the latter having permitted his ram to go at large.

The defendant claims that his ram escaped on the 30th of last November and did no damage until the next morning, which was Dec. I. and therefore he is not liable to a fine, as the law was off.

The farmers living around Derby are

The fences in Connecticut are mostly of stones and built low. Rams will certainly be stones and built low. Rams will certainly be jumping fences in all directions, and should the law remain in force their owners will be subjected to fines. One reason advanced in the bill to repeal the law is that the Winter months are getting annually less and less se-vere and that the winds are tempered to the shorn lamb.

Johnny Bergen's Bloody Wind-Up of His Sister's Birthday.

A tragedy more revolting in its details than the mysterious umbrella mystery occurred early this morning down in the Seventh Ward.

The Bergen family, consisting of the father, Stephen, mother, three sons, John, Roderick and Tom, and two comely daughters, Anna and Mary, live on the first floor of 221 Cherry street. Anna, the eldest daughter, reached her wentieth birthday yesterday and a party was held to celebrate the event. All of the young girls in the neighborhood, including Hannah and Lilly Scully, were present, and the young folks had a good time until the entertainment was about to close, when a cloud was cast over all by unexpected interference from the outside.

About 11.45 o'clock a heavy piece of coa crashed through the window and struck Stephen Bergen on the back of the head. Together with his two eldest sons Bergen went outside and ordered three young men from the door. They went away, but returned about midnight, and, entering the hallway, played on an old harmonics and lanced.

The Bergens stood this for some time, but The Bergens stood this for some time, but finally opened their door and commanded the intruders to leave. They refused to go, and, catching Johnny Bergen, threw him on the floor and commenced to beat him. Johnny Bergen escaped from his assailants, and, according to his own story, rushed back into the room closely pursued. Grabbing a case knife, he held it up in a defensive position, and as the trio rushed in the knife was jabbed into the mouth of one of them.

Without saying a word his companions caught him by the arms and assisted him out. At 12.15 o'clock Detective Mutcahy was passing through Cherry street, and when in Mulcahy obtained a lantern and followed a bloody trail leading from the hallway of 330 to within a few feet of 221. A light was in the window, and, peering in through the window, he saw a woman who seemed to be greatly excited. The detective entered the room where the occupants denied that anything wrong had occurred; but on open-ing the bedreom door the officer saw John Bergen erouched down in the corner. He arrested him and the boy told what he had done.

All the male members of the family except Tomany were then arrested and locked up in Madison street station-house.

The Scully girls had gone home before the trouble took place. It then transpired that the injured man was George Scully, and one of his companions was Thomas Quinlan. The other was unknown.

Detective Leary arrestel Quinlan at 2 o'clock. He found him in hiding in Scully's home.

When an Evening World reporter called at the home of the Soullys, a pitiful state of affairs was brought to his attention. Hannab, the oldest girl, had become worried over her brother's non-appearance and over the mysterious movements going on around her, and had lost her mind. She moaned, and when The Evening World man entered she pleaded with him to "bring back Georgy." Her companious tried to comfort her by saving that George would return at 2 o'clock, but that didn't seem to satisfy the sister.
